

Tattoo Application

What you'll need

- Cloth, a towel, or a sponge
- A little bit of water

Step 1 Decide where you want to apply the tattoo. When you have a perfect position, peel the plastic cover off of your temporary tattoo. Place the paper on your body with the tattoo side on your skin. Apply pressure evenly.

Step 2 Get your cloth, towel or sponge wet and dab it on top of the tattoo paper, covering the entire tattoo. Be sure to completely saturate the paper because the water is what releases the tattoo from the paper. Hold this for 30-60 seconds to ensure the whole tattoo is transferred.

Step 3 Peel the paper off to get a look at your new body art!

Step 4 This step is our little secret. Before you go show off your new tat, dab off the excess water and rub just a tiny bit of lotion on it to add a little vibrancy and extend the lifespan of your tattoo! At this point, the tattoo application is done and looking great. It will stay on for 3 – 5 days with normal wear-and-tear.

Tattoo Removal

What You'll Need

- Eye makeup remover, baby oil or rubbing alcohol.
- A cotton swab or paper towel
- Household clear tape

Step 1 To remove tattoo, saturate cotton swab or soft cloth with eye makeup remover, baby oil or rubbing alcohol. Apply liberally to the tattoo surface. For best results, let soak for 1 minute.

Step 2 With the soaked cloth or cotton swab, gently massage the tattoo in a circular motion. Be patient, do not scrub. Repeat process as needed. Do not attempt to remove with soap and water!

Step 3 Still got some stragglers? Take a piece of house hold tape and wrap it around a few fingers, with the sticky side out. Use a dabbing motion to pull the little left-overs off of your skin.

Tattoo Application

What you'll need

- Cloth, a towel, or a sponge
- A little bit of water

Step 1 Decide where you want to apply the tattoo. When you have a perfect position, peel the plastic cover off of your temporary tattoo. Place the paper on your body with the tattoo side on your skin. Apply pressure evenly.

Step 2 Get your cloth, towel or sponge wet and dab it on top of the tattoo paper, covering the entire tattoo. Be sure to completely saturate the paper because the water is what releases the tattoo from the paper. Hold this for 30-60 seconds to ensure the whole tattoo is transferred.

Step 3 Peel the paper off to get a look at your new body art!

Step 4 This step is our little secret. Before you go show off your new tat, dab off the excess water and rub just a tiny bit of lotion on it to add a little vibrancy and extend the lifespan of your tattoo! At this point, the tattoo application is done and looking great. It will stay on for 3 – 5 days with normal wear-and-tear.

Tattoo Removal

What You'll Need

- Eye makeup remover, baby oil or rubbing alcohol.
- A cotton swab or paper towel
- Household clear tape

Step 1 To remove tattoo, saturate cotton swab or soft cloth with eye makeup remover, baby oil or rubbing alcohol. Apply liberally to the tattoo surface. For best results, let soak for 1 minute.

Step 2 With the soaked cloth or cotton swab, gently massage the tattoo in a circular motion. Be patient, do not scrub. Repeat process as needed. Do not attempt to remove with soap and water!

Step 3 Still got some stragglers? Take a piece of house hold tape and wrap it around a few fingers, with the sticky side out. Use a dabbing motion to pull the little left-overs off of your skin.